EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

On page 3, in the fourth line of the second full paragraph, after "fabric or", replace "mift" with --mitt--.

On page 4, in the sixth line of the first paragraph, after "fabric,", replace "witt" with -- mitt--.

On page 4, in the second line of the second paragraph, after "form", replace "esthetically" with -- aesthetically--.

On page 4, in the fourth line of the second paragraph, after "imidazolines and", replace "ethylane" with --ethylene--.

On page 5, in the second line of the page, after "form an", replace "esthetically" with -- aesthetically--.

- 2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
- 3. The amendment submitted on July 11, 2005, has been entered. Claims 1-4 are cancelled. Claims 5, 6, and 8-12 have been amended. Thus, the pending claims are 5-19.
- 4. The 35 USC 103 rejections based on Taylor (5,756,161) or Taylor and Sheridan (6,103,644) are withdrawn since Taylor and Sheridan fail to teach adding an imidazoline (which is an amphotheric surfactant) to the solid cleansing composition comprising nonionic and anionic surfactants, coated on the nonwoven fabric of Taylor.

Application/Control Number: 10/625,608

Taylor or claimed by the Applicant.

Art Unit: 1771

5. An updated search of the prior art showed that while imidazoline compounds are known and used in soap compositions, such as laundry detergents, as demonstrated by Lunati (6,362,150), the prior art fails to specifically teach why one would choose an imidazoline from the list of amphotheric detergents, except as a softener in laundry detergents, which would not be useful in Taylor. Further, the prior art teaches that imidazoline compounds are one of many types of amphotheric surfactants which can be mixed with other anionic and cationic surfactants to produce various detergent compositions, such as Kasturi et al. (6,827,795) or Brumbaugh (5,998,355). However, the prior art fails to provide any teachings that one of ordinary skill in the art would choose an imidazoline compounds over other known amphotheric surfactants or that an imidazoline compound provides any unique or superior results when mixed with nonionic or anionic surfactants, and specifically, alkanolamides and dialkylammonium chloride or ethylene oxide/propylene oxide block copolymer, as compared to other commonly known surfactants. Finally, the prior art fails to teach that surfactant compounds useful in soap compositions specifically designed to produce soaps that are liquid at room temperature, such as Gabriel et al. (5,906,972), can be added to and useful in solid cleansing compositions, such as those taught by

Page 3

6. Therefore, the prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest nonwoven fabric coated with a cleansing composition comprising an alkanolamide, an imidazoline, and an ionic surfactant, wherein the alkanolamide and the ionic surfactant solid below 30°C. Additionally, the prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest a cleansing composition comprising an imidazoline and an alkanolamide, and either a dialkylammonium chloride or an ethylene oxide/propylene oxide block copolymer wherein the alkanolamide and either the dialkylammonium chloride or ethylene oxide/propylene oxide block copolymer are solid below 30°C.

7. Thus, claims 5 - 19 are allowed.

8. The amendments to the specification set forth above were made to correct minor typographical errors in the specification found during prosecution.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
